The Halton Hills Lecture Series Returns With an Exciting Speaker Lineup Discover New Ideas. Challenge Your Opinions. Explore Current Events.

HALTON HILLS, ON – The Halton Hills Public Library is thrilled to announce the return of the highly anticipated Halton Hills Lecture Series. Following the success of last year's inaugural series featuring engaging and knowledgeable speakers presenting on timely and thought-provoking topics, the second-annual event features experts from all walks of life relating to the Halton Hills community.

The free lecture series kicks off on October 17th at 7:30 pm in the John Elliott Theatre with a panel discussion moderated by Lois Fraser, where Dr. Mary Rubio, Jessica Young, and Matthew Rowe will explore "Bringing Lucy Maud Montgomery Home to Norval: Past, Present, Future."

Upcoming 2018-2019 lecture topics include:

- November 14th - Cannabis in Canada: The Implications of Legalization
- December 8th – A Special Holiday Concert with David Leask
- January 8th – We're Not Racist We're Canadian
- February 20th – The Ontario Genealogical Society: Understanding DNA Testing
- March 20th - Groundwater: How the Water Cycle and Depletion Affect our Local Resources
- April 17th - Seed Saving and Biodiversity

"The Halton Hills Lecture Series provides an exciting opportunity to share cultural and relevant knowledge that is interesting and accessible to the greater community," said Lee Puddephatt, Community Librarian. "This collaborative project allows the Library to provide a space for residents to gather and explore their thoughts and ideas on subjects that are of common interest."
